

Crystal Collins, Chief
Redevelopment Unit
Industrial Hazardous Waste Branch

Crystal is the chief of the Brownfield Redevelopment and Voluntary Cleanup Program at the Alabama Department of Environmental Management. She has 21 years of experience in providing oversight of assessment and cleanups of brownfield sites throughout the State of Alabama. Crystal has a B.S. in Biology and Mathematics from Huntingdon College, is a Certified Public Manager and is working on her Master's of Business Administration at Auburn University At Montgomery. She has extensive experience in Brownfield Remediations dealing with Risk Based Corrective Action Plans, Remediation Management of Complex Sites and Vapor Intrusion Issues. Crystal is married with 3 children. All of her free time is spent watching sports activities, traveling and enjoying beautiful Lake Martin.